UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Intercollegiate and Interscholastic Relay Race Carnival Last Saturday in April Each Year.

FRANKLIN FIELD.

Philadelphia, March 3, 1911.

Dear Sir:—I send you appended hereto a short article on the coming Seventeenth Annual Relay Races of the University of Pennsylvania. There is such great interest in this meet that each year many of the college and school papers write asking for news. I send this to forestall such demands. I shall be very glad if you will publish the appended article in your paper either in whole or in part.

Very sincerely,
GEO. W. ORTON.

Pennsylvania's Relay Races to be Bigger, More Important, and More Interesting than Ever.

Pennsylvania's Relay Races promise to be even more important and more interesting than ever before. Practically all of the big colleges, such as Harvard, Michigan, Chicago, Princeton, Columbia, etc., have already sent word that they will have teams in the meet. This guarantees a repetition of the magnificent racing that has made the Relays a synonym for all that is highest class in track and field sport. Chicago will bring on such a wonderful runner as Davenport, who won both the quarter and half-mile Western College championships last June in 48½ seconds and 1 minute 56½ seconds respectively. Michigan will send on Craig, who won the 220-yard Intercollegiate Championship, equalling the world's record of 21½ seconds. Foster, the Harvard captain, the Sprinting Champion of 1909, will also run in the sprints. Burdick, of Pennsylvania, the Eastern Intercollegiate Champion, will meet French, of Kansas, the Western Champion, in the high jump. Chisholm, of Yale, the Eastern High Hurdle Champion, will meet Edwards, the Western Champion. And so it will be in all the special events, namely, the 100 yards 120-yard high hurdle, shot, hammer, discus, broad jump, high jump, and pole vault.

The College Relay Championships will, as usual, bring together the fastest teams of the year. The success of Harvard and Cornell this winter, together with the fast running of the Western teams in recent Western sports, guarantee that Pennsylvania will have to do almost the impossible to retain the three championships she won last year. Cornell, Harvard, Chicago, Michigan, Illinois, and Princeton are all out for one or other championship. In fact, Yale seems about the only one of the big colleges that has not at least

BASEBALL DINNER.

Much Enthusiasm Aroused.

On Monday night, the members of the 'varsity baseball squad enjoyed a dinner at the hotel Heublein as the guests of George D. Howell, '82, president of the Hartford Alumni Association. A number of Trinity graduates were present.

An enormous tumbler of milk was at each man's place when the banqueters entered the private banquet hall of the hotel. It is noticeable that everyone managed to dispose of his share, and a good majority of the players drank much more than a quart. The entire banquet was thoroughly enjoyed by every one present.

After the dinner there were many speeches, Mr. Howell presiding as toastmaster. The first speech was made by Professor J. D. Flynn, '97, who will coach the team for the remainder of the season when Coach Connery leaves to take up his duties with the Hartford Baseball Club. Walter S. Schutz, '94, and J. Humphrey Green, '92, President of the Athletic Advisory Board, followed in order. Anson T. McCook '02, Secretary-Treasurer of the Athletic Advisory Board, was next. Chas. G. Woodward, '98, son of Mr. Woodward, a trustee of Trinity, followed with a stirring speech. Captain Carroll and Manager Rankin wound up the list of speakers. The ball players were made to realize the dignity and importance of their positions as representing the college in its relation with other institutions.

Among those present were Coach Connery, Manager Rankin, '12, Captain Carroll, '11, L'Heureux, '13, C. W. Sayres, '13, A. P. Sayres, '13, Warner, '13, Thomas, '13, Bleecker, '12, Brainerd, '11, Turner, '12, Horan, '13, Ahern, '12, Howell, '12, and Hicks, '14.

FACULTY MEMBERS IN POLITICS.

In the municipal elections held in Hartford, Tuesday, April 4th, two members of the faculty of Trinity college were elected to office. Professor John J. McCook, running on the Republican ticket, was elected to membership on the High School Committee, receiving a larger number of votes than any other candidate. Professor John G. Gill, running on the Democratic ticket, was elected councilman from the Eighth Ward. Professor Gill also ran ahead of his ticket. These elections attest the popularity of the professors at Trinity among the electors of Hartford.

one team up to championship calibre.

At present writing (March 1st) nearly 200 school and college teams have entered, so it is a surety that April 29th will see more than 250 college and school teams in competition. Many big things lack quality, but the work that has been done at the Relays the past ten years, proves that these sports are not only the biggest of the year, but that they are also the best.

CHEESE-EATING NOT FATAL.

Encouraging Results from Experiments on Wesleyan Students.

A very interesting pamphlet has just been received in the library from the Department of Agriculture, entitled "The Digestibility of Cheese." The author bases it on experiments performed upon "65 human subjects," . . . . "mostly students of Wesleyan University between the ages of 19 and 32," instead of upon rabbits, white mice, and guinea pigs as is customary.

The subjects were fed for several days upon a diet of bread, bananas, and green cheese, the theory being that if any considerable percentage of them should become violently ill or die, it would prove conclusively that such a diet is not to be recommended for "human subjects between the ages of 19 and 32."

But the result was not so unfavorable as had been feared. The 65 human subjects showed no ill effects, but went about their business much as they had done when living on the good old American college fare of venerable eggs and hash. Consequently, the chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry is moved to conclude that the people of this country would do well to consume larger quantities of cheese than is now their custom. "It is well known," he says in his letter of Transmittal to the Secretary of Agriculture, "that at the present time the consumption of cheese in this country is far below that of European countries."

The report, as was said above, is very interesting, but it seems to the present writer that it does not go far enough. Why stop at cheese, when it is also "well known" that we are behind Europe in the consumption of garlic, spaghetti, Rhine wine, and other condimental dainties? You have done well, gentlemen, but we look for greater things yet.

PRESIDENT LUTHER ON THE LOBBY.

President Flavel S. Luther spoke one evening last month at the dinner of the Economic Club of New Haven, and spoke of the amazing length of time required for service in the General Assembly. He said that it took "one term to learn how, another to learn what, and after that a man might be able to do something." Speaking of the lobby he also said: "No man who is afraid that another man will get up to his price and wants to keep that man out of the Capitol is fit to go to the Legislature." Other speakers on the occasion were Lincoln Steffens, F. P. Fisk and E. W. Burdette of Boston. They spoke in favor of a legitimate lobby.

TERRY FELLOWSHIP AWARDED.

Feingold, '11, The Recipient.

Upon recommendation of the faculty, President Luther has appointed Gustave Alexander Feingold of the Senior Class, as the Mary A. Terry Fellow for the ensuing academic year. This Fellowship, endowed by a legacy from Mrs. Mary A. Terry, of Hartford, yields an annual income of about $600. It is awarded annually by the President, upon the recommendation of the Faculty, to a member of the graduating class who gives evidence of superior ability, and who engages to pursue an approved course of graduate study at Trinity College, or at some other college or university approved by the Faculty.

Feingold will specialize in Philosophy and Political Science at Harvard University during the next two years, and will be a candidate for a Ph. D. degree. He will undoubtedly receive an M. A. degree when he graduates in June as he has taken sufficient courses to satisfy the requirements. After he has finished his course at Harvard, he will either take up teaching or study law.

Feingold will leave Trinity with a fine scholastic record. He has held the Russel Scholarship for three years, and was third in the Church School Mathematical Contest. He was always a close contender for the Holland Scholarships during the past three years. He entered college solely upon his own efforts, preparing himself by studying evenings and at odd times.

MR. STOKES WILL SPEAK.

Mr. J. J. Phelps Stokes, President of the Intercollegiate Socialist Society will be the guest of the Society for the Study of Socialism, on April 11th. On this occasion, a meeting open to the whole college body has been arranged, when Mr. Stokes will speak on "Socialism."

Mr. Stokes entered the Socialist movement not long ago, coming, not from the usual ranks, but from the wealthy and educated class, and is known as the "Millionaire Socialist." Every Trinity man is invited to attend the lecture of Mr. Stokes, after which a general discussion will take place.

The meeting will be held at 4 P. M. on Tuesday, April 11th in the History room.

CLASS DAY COMMITTEES.

The following Class Day chairmen have chosen their committees. Ramsdell for the Class Day committee has appointed the following. A. J. Cook, Eaton, Morris and Skinner.

Maxen for the Promenade committee has appointed Brainerd, Carroll, Dooman, Harrison and Yates.

Burbank for the Dramatic committee has appointed A. K. Smith, Dooman, Ripley and Rosebaugh.

EDITORIAL.

Our friend, the weather-man, cannot have considered the best interests of outdoor athletics of late, when he mapped out the succession of events—rain, colder, and snow. Thus far the baseball squad has been on the field just six times this season, while the track men have made a couple of bold attempts to brave the weather and use the course.

For that reason, too much must not be expected of the men when they first go into action, and this is especially true with regard to the baseball team. With bad conditions for practice outside on Tuesday, no game with Yale on Wednesday, and a continuation of the general run of the elements, we can hope for no brilliant exhibition in the Brown game on Saturday.

While we are sure that the men will do all in their power to pull out a victory, let us not forget that under such a severe handicap, which has been placed upon them lately, even the most sanguine followers of the sport can but hope for the best, and take either victory or defeat with equal equanimity.

We hope that the first game of the season, played with such opponents, will give an impetus to players and spectators alike, and that when the proper time comes for the undergraduates to support the team, they will do so with one accord.

VERSE BY ALUMNUS?

A poem evidently written by Edward S. Van Zile, '84, has been lately brought to light, and is reprinted herewith.

THE ADVANCED GAME OF FOOTBALL.

Organized cheering has less means of expressing degrees and varieties of emotion than any other form of expression, with the possible exception of the foghorn. The most effective and natural form . . . is music.—President Lowell of Harvard.

I.

It was forty thousand sang there,
Half for Harvard, half for Yale,
And a mighty chorus rang there
When Yale's goal kick didn't fail;
For the touchdown had been splendid,
And the run before a rouser,
So the Blue her soul expended.
In selections from, "Tannhauser."

II.

Then Harvard bucked Yale's line for gains
And made full thirty yards;
The Crimson baton beat the strains
That thrilled the eager guards;
And o'er that field of football might,
Of epic deeds and glory,
Fair Harvard sang, in great delight,
Sweet bits from "Trovatore."

III.

Yale got the ball and bucked the line,
But couldn't gain an inch.
And Harvard cried, "Oh, this is fine!"
And "Isn't it a cinch?"
"Were so excited we must sing,
In high and clear falsetto;
So let the Crimson chorus ring
From Verdi's 'Rigoletto'!"

IV.

The fight was hard, the score was tied,
And music rose and fell;
But only one fool freshman tried
To rouse an old-time yell.
And when a touchdown won the game
And Yale grew merry very,
The Crimson put the Blue to shame
By chanting "Miserere."
E. S. V. Z., in New York Times.

AROUND COLLEGE.

At a meeting of 1911 held yesterday, a committee was appointed to arrange for the senior tree-planting. Rosebaugh, chairman of the committee, with Foster and Ripley, will proceed according to President Luther's suggestions, and choose a place for the tree at a distance from the walk. They will also plant an oak this year instead of an elm.

The sophomore class met yesterday and elected officers for next year's "Ivy." W. S. Marsden was elected editor-in-chief, and D. S. Pulford, business manager.

The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company,

Hartford, Conn.

Why should I insure my life?

Because it is a debt you owe to those who are dependent upon your earnings for their support.

You admit that it is your duty to supply their needs from day to day, but forget that it is equally your duty to provide an ever ready and sufficient equivalent for your earning power, which your family stands in constant jeopardy to lose by your premature death.

Guard your family against disaster and yourself against dependency in old age.

When should I insure my life?

Now! The cost will never be less, and to-morrow you may not be able to obtain insurance at any price.

Even if others are not now dependent upon you, take time by the forelock and you will be the better able to meet future responsibilities, and at a smaller premium.

Where shall I insure my life?

In a purely Mutual Company.
in a company that earns, declares,
and pays annual dividends.
In a company that is doing a conservative business.

Such a Company is The Connecticut
Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn. It furnishes perfect protection at lowest cost.

For further information, address
the Company, or any of its agents.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES.

In the recent fire disaster in New York in which upwards of 150 employees of the Triangle Shirtwaist Company lost their lives, the students of the New York University law school worked heroically in rescuing the workers from the burning building. At the first cry of fire, the students procured a couple of ladders and placed them across from the windows of the school to the factory, which is separated from it only by a small areaway. By means of these improvised fire escapes fully 150 girls were rescued from the flames. The young heroes made their way into the interior of the factory searching for victims who might be overcome by the fire, in this way rescuing one girl who was unconscious, and whose hair had already caught fire.

A student at the University of Kansas invested $250, the whole amount which he had to put him through college in three cows. By selling milk he is paying all of his college expenses and the expenses of keeping the cows.

Nearly 1,000 students at the University of Illinois are earning their way through college either wholly or in part.

The first intercollegiate glider meet, in which 11 colleges and schools have already made entries, will be held at Atlantic on May 3-6, under the auspices of the Harvard aeronautical society.

The student body of the University of Oregon has passed resolutions to the effect that every student should tip his hat to the president of the university and to his own particular dean.

There is a precedent at Kansas that the man who proves to be a successful cheer leader shall retain his position throughout his college course.

Manager Yack of the Grand Opera House of New Haven has asked the Yale students to co-operate with him in fighting the ticket speculators. One speculator has been arrested.

At a recent Glee and Mandolin Club concert at Cornell the entire house was sold out in half an hour.

There are only nine women students left at Wesleyan University.

Phi Beta Kappa recently elected 18 members at Princeton.

Professor Todd of Amherst College has just returned from a very successful expedition to Tapaca, Chili, where he made observations and obtained many perfect photographs of the planet Mars.

Yale announced recently radical modifications of the elective system, substituting a curriculum which divides the courses of study offered to the undergraduates into groups covering the entire four years of the college career.
